Imran Khan addresses MANAGIC launch at UMT

Addressing on the occasion, Imran Khan pointed out that there wasn't much scope for community service unless the fight for survival of civic society is won. He said that history bears testimony to the fact that young people all over the world are the driving force behind every revolution that becomes a turning point in the life of their nations. He urged the youth to learn to fight for their rights. This, he said, is the only way to stop the injustice and cruelty prevalent in the world at large. He reminded the captive audience that a secure future for them was possible only if they overcome the passivity and submissive attitude. He motivated them to rise to the occasion by referring to Iqbal's vision of self-respect.

Dr A R Kausar, Pro-Rector UMT, thanked everyone, especially the chief guest, for managing the visit to UMT. He expressed his agreement with the views of Imran Khan that the youth must learn and lead. He hinted upon the vision of UMT i.e., learning and urged the audience to learn from the day one to the day last. Dr A R Kausar said that we urge our students to benefit from the faculty and the academic environment at UMT to learn, and later practice whatever they learn in order to lead. He said that the University of Management and Technology aims to produce graduates to be future leaders. The Pro-Rector UMT ended his address by quoting verses:

*zor-e-baazoo azma, shikwa na kar sayyad sey
aaj tak koi qafas toota naheen faryaad sey*

Dr A R Kausar, Pro-Rector UMT, presents UMT souvenir to Imran Khan. Also seen in the picture: Naveda Kitchlew and Abid H K Sherwani

The chairperson of the Management Department Naveda Kitchlew talked about the connection and relationship with the community that develops from community service and how it adds an invaluable layer to education. She emphasized that community service brings out the best in us, inspires hope in each other and empowers us. Naveda Kitchlew asked the students to get involved and to give community service a chance because service to the community is an important part of well-rounded education.

Memoona Sattar, Project Manager of the Women Business Incubation Center, also spoke on the occasion. She encouraged women to build entrepreneurial skills in themselves to actively contribute to the economic well being of the society.

Osama Jawaad, Assistant National Director SOS Villages, Pakistan, gave very simple examples to illustrate the nature of community work and how it can be done in each and every capacity. He delivered a very youth and student relevant speech, which guided them towards community work in their immediate environment. His speech was full of compassion for the underprivileged.

The ceremony was attended by a large number of students, staff and faculty members, and UMT officials including Abid Sherwani, Director External Affairs, Waqar Ahmed, Director CMD, Sohail Termezi, Director Executive MBA, and Dawood Ilyas Butt, Assistant Professor, SBE.

UMT bags second position in the LCCI Business Plan Competition

Later, the UMT team was also invited for a reception by the Chief Minister Punjab Muhammad Shahbaz Sharif and an evening with the Pakistani Cricket Team and tennis star Aisam-ul-Haq.

Dr Hasan Sohaib Murad, Rector UMT, met Rashid Hussain, Director, Center for Entrepreneurship and Innovation (CENTIN) and the winning team at the UMT campus. He congratulated them on getting the second position at the competition. He was of the view such competitions should be organized more frequently to involve young people in innovative projects. Dr A R Kausar, Pro-Rector UMT, also congratulated the team on their success and shared his own experiences with them. Dr Kausar encouraged them to participate in international contests in order to move from the local to the international competitive markets.

Explaining the concept of the winning project, Rashid Hussain, Director CENTIN, said that the team came up with the final project with an incubation period of just 45 days. Mavra Naeem, Azhar Tahir Nabi, Mowahid Islam, Faizan Malik and Mobeen Ahmed worked tirelessly to refine and enhance the project. The end product is a device that can be used to control home appliances. Using GSM technology, users can send messages to the device that instructs the home appliance such as TV, refrigerator, air conditioner, lights, etc. that are attached with this device to comply with the directions that have been sent. For example, you can open your front door from anywhere in the world or tell your micro wave oven to start baking at a specified time so that you get what you want by effectively managing your time and money.

The winning team snapped at the UMT campus along with Dr Hasan Sohaib Murad, Rector UMT, Abid H K Sherwani, Director External Affairs, and Rashid Hussain, Director CENTIN

The basic concept of GSM Home is very simple. Once the device is attached to a machine, it processes the user's instructions and sends coded instructions to the machine. At present, 6 appliances can be attached to the device but the team is already working on enhancements. One of the factors that weighed in favor of GSM Home was the micro level potential of the project. Secondly, it addresses convenience and security issues of today's market in an effective manner.

Each member of the UMT team made his/her unique contribution to the project. Mavra managed different aspects of the project, coordinated with all team members and presented GSM Home to the panel of judges. Azhar conducted the main research and worked on various project features. Faizan conducted the consumer market survey. Mohawid worked at the project finances and came up with different market strategies. Sundas Nazir, Research Coordinator for CENTIN, kept the team together through tough times and served as the motivation for the entire team – a fact that is acknowledged by all team members.

The team already plans to take the project to the international level. They are seeking a patent for their product and working towards raising venture capital. A number of investors and businessmen have already shown interest in the product. The LCCI Advisory Board has invited the team for a meeting. It is expected that research and funding would be provided for the project.

Rashid Hussain, Director CENTIN, and the faculty of the School of Business and Economics (SBE) deserve special commendation for dedicating their time and expertise to advise the students in completing the project.

Renowned writer Amjad Islam Amjad meets students of BS-SS

BS Social Sciences participants had a special session with the great poet and drama writer Amjad Islam Amjad on May 24, 2011. He was invited to meet the participants of the course titled 'Writing Workshop' being taught by Ambreen Salahuddin, Lecturer, Department of Social Sciences, and Naveed Alam, Director, Center for English Language (CEL). Dr Abdul Hameed, Dean SSH, also graced the occasion. Amjad Islam Amjad talked to the participants about his own writing process, creativity and his unique experiences. He emphasized on reading world literature to sharpen creative writing skills. He commented that writing and knowing English language is not bad; English language is like a door which connects us to the international podium, but instead of opening this door outwards we have opened the door inwards which has affected our very own national and regional languages and literature. He emphasized on the immense need of translations of Urdu literary works so that they may be introduced to the rest of the world. He encouraged the students to use and polish their skills in order to unfold their hidden talent.

During the detailed question and answer session, Amjad Islam Amjad answered very intriguing and crucial issues related to modern poetry and its influence, different genres of literature and certain forms of expressions. In the end, he mentioned that a poet or writer should also consider the target audience while creating a master piece. The students were highly motivated as a result of the meeting and talk with this renowned personality. At the end, Dr Abdul Hameed presented the University souvenir to the distinguished guest as a token of appreciation. Later, they discussed various plans that may be initiated at UMT to promote Urdu language and literature.

Dr Branislav Radeljic addresses seminar on Islam in the West

The Department of Islamic Thought and Civilization organized a seminar on Islam in the West on March 31, 2011. Dr Branislav Radeljic, Associate Lecturer in International Development at the University of London, UK, addressed the gathering. Dr Branislav said that Islamophobia is growing because of media's negative portrayal of Islam to the Western people. He was of the view that people do not try to understand the true teachings of Islam from the relevant literature because they find it convenient to get all the information from the electronic media. However, Dr Radeljic said that Muslims themselves are also responsible for adding to the stereotyped notions propagated by all those who were obsessed with Islamophobia. The lecture was concluded on a question and answer session.

CENTIN organizes PELP-2011 in collaboration with BASF

Crystal Clean Bottle, the winners of PELP 2011, snapped with Dr A R Kausar, Pro-Rector UMT, and Rehmatullah Javid, Chairman Skill Development Council

Addressing on the occasion, Saqib Mohyuddin, CEO SME Business Support Fund, said that entrepreneurship development not only facilitates small and medium enterprises but all micro enterprise that is on its way towards becoming a successful SME. He said that our SMEs are facing many challenges today in terms of lack of financing and technology, access to markets, and management issues. He advised the students to learn the spirit of entrepreneurship - once they develop entrepreneurship skills, all that they have to do is plan activities, bring forth innovative ideas, be ready for challenges, and just follow the roadmap of success for Pakistan. He said that the PELP will help students to take the first step in making a stake in the franchise business and give them an opportunity to do business worldwide. He added that it is very challenging, yet satisfying to be your own boss.

Rehmatullah Javid, Chairman Skill Development Council, Ministry of Labor and Manpower, Govt. of Pakistan, and Chairman, SME Committee FPCCI Lahore, commended CENTIN and the BSF for organizing PELP. He advised young entrepreneurs to think out of the box, explore opportunities and pursue new targets. He also stressed the importance of good communication skills in order to add to the confidence of the workers. He said that he was impressed by the range of innovative ideas presented by the students. He mentioned two ideas in particular, a medical chair and a communication system for cars called the Reminderal designed by Mohammad Ahmad Afzal and his team. He announced that the Guard Group would purchase the Reminderal for around one million rupees and it would be the property of Guard Group. At the end, he announced that LCCI and BSF will present awards and certificates to participating students along with a trip to the LCCI.

Awais Javaid, Director Marketing, Green Circle Agritech, said that we started business with Rs 28000 and now we are earning Rs 100 crore. He motivated the students by saying that they too can start businesses with their pocket money and earn millions.

Salman Durani, Area Manager PFL, said that PFL started business with limited resources in 1997 but is now a multinational organization with presence in 3 continents. He said that his organization would work closely with UMT and support students who are eager to study abroad and pursue entrepreneurship. He added that while the modalities of these bilateral links would be explored later, three students would initially be sponsored to pursue their studies in the UK.

Dr A R Kausar, Pro-Rector UMT, thanked the distinguished guests and all the resource persons, especially Dawood Ilyas Butt, Manqoosh and Rashid Hussain for guiding and inspiring the students. He said that students who participated in this activity deserve appreciation. UMT itself is the success story of entrepreneurship and one can only expect the same from its students.

He added that Pakistan is full of business success stories such as those of Guard Group and Sitara Group. He advised the students to pursue their innovative ideas, make products that are cheap, have a strong supply chain and are able to compete globally, especially with a competitor like China. The event was hosted by Sundus Nazir and Umair. At the end, Rashid Hussain, Director CENTIN, announced the winners of the competition. The first prize was awarded to Yasir Khalid and his team Crystal Clean Bottle along with a cheque of Rs 50,000/-. The second prize went to Rana Uzmair Ishtiaq and his team RFID System for Local Transport with a cheque of Rs 25000/- Kashif Maqsood and his team of Dream Decorators won the third position and received a cheque for Rs 10,000/-.

Delegation from the Sultanate of Oman visits UMT

The delegation was welcomed at the UMT campus by the Pro-Rector Dr A R Kausar, faculty and management staff. The delegation visited the facilities extended to the students by UMT. They visited the library that houses over 55000 books and offers online access to 14000 research journals. The delegation also toured the Information Processing Center that serves 2000 participants daily. They saw the science and engineering laboratories with modern computer network and latest equipments. The delegates expressed their full satisfaction over the wide range of facilities extended to the students, and appreciated the quality and standard of education being provided by UMT.

Later, a meeting was held in the Board Room. It was attended by the deans, registrar, faculty members, and heads of the departments. Dr A R Kausar, Pro-Rector UMT, briefed the delegation about UMT, its history, undergraduate and graduate programs recognized by the Higher Education Commission of Pakistan (HEC) and the Pakistan Engineering Council (PEC). He apprised the visitors that UMT faculty includes 33 PhDs and a distinguished national professor. Over 4000 student are now studying here and over 10000 alumni are serving both inland and abroad. Dr Kausar also highlighted future development projects including construction of library, hostels and the academic block. On a special note, he highlighted the amount of scholarships and financial aid given on merit and need basis to the bright and deserving students and apprised the delegation that UMT spends almost 13% of its total revenue i.e. almost Rs 65 million to extend merit-cum-need based support to the deserving students. More than 1300 participants benefitted from this support in the fiscal year 2010-11, he further added. Dr Kausar said that we ensure that whosoever is admitted on merit at UMT completes his or her education and is not marred by financial constraints.

Registrar UMT, Engr Sulman Saeed Qureshi explained the system and procedures adopted by UMT to ensure that the amount disbursed goes to the genuinely deserving. He said that transparency and merit are the cornerstone of our scholarship and financial aid policy. He also highlighted that the continuity of scholarship and financial aid has been linked to academic performance and if the GPA of financial aid recipient goes below 2.5 in case of a bachelor student and less than 3.0 in case of a master student, the financial aid automatically stops. The delegation appreciated the support UMT is extending to the deserving and the needy. They shared with participants the initiatives taken and the investment made by the Oman government to promote education and the knowledge cause. The delegation expressed delight over what UMT has achieved so far in a span of two decades of its history, and promised to present and project the case of UMT and its projects to the Oman government and business community. The delegation also invited the Pro-Rector and the faculty to visit Oman.

The visiting delegates from Oman and the Pro-Rector UMT, Dr A R Kausar lauded the efforts of Amir Ali Sheikh, Director International Development for his laudable efforts to make this visit possible. Later, working lunch was served to the participants of the meeting and the delegates departed reiterating their satisfaction over what they had seen at UMT and a promise to do whatever they can to support the cause of knowledge, for UMT.

CIM (UK) accredits SPA

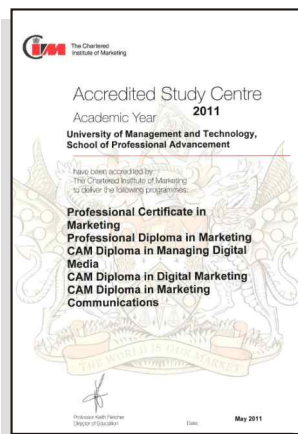

The School of Professional Advancement (SPA) was tasked to get accreditation (full/partial) from International Chartered Universities. It is a matter of pride and gratitude for the SPA team on achieving the first milestone in accreditation. SPA has been declared as Full Accredited Study Centre by The Chartered Institute of Marketing (United Kingdom) for the academic year 2011.

The following programs will be run under the accreditation:

Professional Certificate in Marketing (level 4), Professional Diploma in Marketing (level 6), CAM Diploma in Digital Marketing (level 4), CAM Diploma in Managing Digital Media (level 4) and CAM Diploma in Marketing Communications (level 4).

The Chartered Institute of Marketing accredits academic organizations that meet the Institute's standards. As the world's largest organization for professional marketers, CIM plays a key role in training, developing and representing the marketing profession. It delivers accredited, practice-based qualifications through the UK and international study centre network, and offers industry-proven marketing and sales training courses. Accreditation by CIM is a giant step forward for UMT in general and the SPA team in particular. This is indeed a milestone in the history of SPA and brings it a step closer to realizing its cherished goal of becoming a center of excellence for providing quality professional education and training. Dr Naveed Yazdani, Director SPA, and his team deserve our full appreciation for achieving this distinction.

UMT academia goes online with Moodle LMS implementation

The Office of Information Technology (OIT) at UMT achieved one of the most prestigious milestones of its nineteen-year history when its software development team implemented Moodle Learning Management System campus wide. The implementation is one of biggest in Pakistan covering 4000+ students, 150+ faculty members and 200+ courses. It is a step towards the Rector's vision to make the University a paperless environment. This will help to improve efficiency and effectiveness of academia as everything is available instantly.

Students now have immediate access to the latest information online regarding their performance and grades. The new system presents an opportunity to all students, especially those who are too shy to speak up in class, to express themselves and share ideas.

From the EDITORIAL Desk

The sweltering summer heat and the occasional relief afforded by the early monsoons this year has certainly not dampened spirits at UMT which remained bustling as ever with activities while forging ahead with development and expansion plans. As always, UMT welcomed distinguished guests and dignitaries from all walks of life as educationists, corporate speakers and former sportsmen enlightened us by sharing their insight and experiences in their specialized fields. Our students made us proud in more ways than one by achieving distinction in the LCCI business plan competition and also by proving their entrepreneurial skills in the PELP 2011.

Read on to re-live and become a part of the great moments in life at UMT. There is much to interest you in these pages. Don't forget to send us your valuable suggestions and feedback. After all, this is your newsletter and all the effort in putting it together is for your benefit alone.

Seminar on HR in Practice

Sanam Shiekh, Head HR, Pioneer Pakistan Seed Limited, was the guest speaker during a seminar held at the UMT campus on April 07, 2011 describing HR practices. Sanam is a silver medalist in Public Administration from Punjab University and has almost 11 years of experience in HR. She is a certified expert on Personality and Preference Inventory (PAPI) Tests, designed and developed by Cubiks, PA Group Consulting, UK, and the Mercer International Position Evaluation (IPE) Tool by Mercer USA.

Sanam shared what the business sector expects from the students and how they may develop themselves to meet the changing requirements of the corporate world. She said that the true HR spirit is how we handle people. Machines are easier to handle because they are manmade and can be managed according to the specification but people do not come with a manual. One of the biggest challenges of HR lies in taking difficult decisions and communicating them.

Predicting the future of HR professionals, Sanam said that HR is the only field that can never go outdated and will face continuous dynamics. A question and answer session followed the lecture. The guest speaker answered all the queries of students and gave them the practical side of HR. Sanam also questioned the students regarding HR related terminology and concepts. At the end, she advised the students on important points to consider while deciding their careers. She appreciated the knowledge of UMT students and said that they were better academically than their counterparts in other educational institutions.

Talk hosted by IFC and CLP for lawyers and in-house counsels

The International Finance Corporation (IFC) and Center for Law and Policy (CLP) jointly hosted a talk on mediation by Barrister Isfandyar Ali Khan, Program Officer, Alternative Dispute Resolution, International Finance Corporation, on 04 June 2011. A group of private practitioners and in-house counsels attended the event.

Barrister Khan started by explaining the growing importance of mediation in various legal systems. He then focused on the significance of mediation in Pakistan. He stressed that, keeping in view the costs involved in litigation and the lengthy court procedures, mediation saves both money and time. He also discussed the performance of Karachi Center for Dispute Resolution (KCDR), which was established by IFC, and what IFC plans to do in Lahore. The talk was followed by a Q&A session.

Later, Syed Imad-ud-Din Asad, Director, Center for Law and Policy, and Barrister Isfandyar Ali Khan (Program Officer, Alternative Dispute Resolution, International Finance Corporation) agreed, on behalf of CLP and IFC, to jointly host more similar events and make other collaborative efforts in order to promote awareness about mediation.

Students Delegation from the University of Dhaka, Bangladesh visits UMT under HEC students Exchange Program

A delegation of students led by Dr Shahid Akhtar Hossain, Professor and Dean, Faculty of Biological Sciences from the University of Dhaka, Bangladesh, paid a visit to UMT on May 27, 2011. Acting Rector UMT Dr Abdul Rashid Kausar, Chairman Mass Communication Department Dr Mujahid Mansoori, Director Participants Services Rana Iftikhar Ahmad, and Director Foreign Relations Muhammad Ibrahim Qazi welcomed the delegation. The delegates visited the UMT campus and appreciated the learning resources such as the library and laboratory facilities, quality of education and student life at the campus. While having a formal reception at UMT, Dr Shahid Akhtar Hossain, Head of the visiting delegation, said that Pakistan is different than what is generally portrayed in the international media and we are fascinated by its growth and development. He said that this visit has changed our perception of Pakistan and its people. While welcoming the delegation, Acting Rector Dr A R Kausar said that we cannot forget what happened in the past because it was a bitter experience but we can live with it as sugar and salt both augment each other for a perfect taste. Dr Kausar said that the youth of both countries must look to the future and UMT would welcome Bangladeshi students for higher studies. Noor Aslam Khan, Coordinator for Events and Media, welcomed the delegation and said that this is a historic moment in the life of UMT where our brothers and sisters from Bangladesh are here with us. He said that leaders of both countries may divide us by means of borders and geography, but being Muslims and part of a global village, the people to people contacts are growing. He said that this visit will enhance our mutual relations and the students of both universities can work together to achieve universal principles of human rights, democracy, peace and justice.

A Montage of Literary Essays and Critical Articles by Dr Qabil Khan published

Dr Qabil Khan has published a compilation of articles and critical essays covering a wide spectrum of literary, historical, anthropological and geopolitical subjects. The writing involves three languages: English, Pashto and Persian.

Most of the essays and articles included in the book have been published in various magazines and journals over the years. Some by his own admission include his early attempts at writing.

The phenomenal range of his writing can be gauged by the topics that he has explored: from themes in Shakespearean sonnets to Pakhtoon culture and the cult of the whirling dervish to an analysis of Harry Potter's Deathly Hallows in the light of Propp's Model.

Dr Khan is currently serving as Professor of English, University of Management and Technology, Lahore. An ex-Chairman of the Department of English and Modern European Languages, University of Peshawar, Dr Qabil joined the International Islamic University Islamabad as head of the Department of Language and Literature and Dean, Faculty of Languages and Literature.

Born in Khyber, he was educated at Islamia College and the University of Peshawar upto BA (Hons) and MA English. Beginning his career as Lecturer in English at Islamia College, the author did his PhD in Central Asian Literature from the Area Study Center (Central Asia), University of Peshawar. In the meantime, he also worked for about two years on a Pashto-English, English-Pashto Dictionary at Pashto Academy, University of Peshawar and University of Pennsylvania, USA. He has published some seven books. At present, he is working on two long due projects: the writing of the history of Pashto literature and rendering of Pashto romances in English.
