Message from Director TKS

The new year serves as an opportunity to identify and recognise goals achieved and hurdles overcome in the lives of individuals. The application of this retrospection is no less important for an educational institution. Thus, the new year acts as a time for us to review activities conducted over the past year, celebrate our achievements and refine our processes. It was a year full of success, from the integration of the much-awaited Single National Curriculum in our books to TKS students achieving high positions in board exams, allowing the TKS Network to rest on the laurels of their hard work. There is much that we have to be proud of, from being among the first institutions to receive an NOC for our SNC-based preschool books, to the successful relaunch of our logo and the revitalization of our core values that came with it. This year also saw the first-ever publication of the TKS annual magazine, the creation of which will now remain a continuous effort. Providing support to 150 campuses during a pandemic, hosting an NWA convention under those conditions, maintaining a regular schedule for quality assurance and trainings, providing support around the clock regardless of department and function, ensuring the uninterrupted supply of quality education to all and sundry...the TKS Head Office accomplished much and, of greater significance, learnt more. The experience gained during the year will help us maintain the high standard of education that our stakeholders have come to expect from us. Similarly, our individual campuses have done much to be proud of. Our representatives amongst the general populace, they continue to provide support to us in our mission of spreading the philosophy and vision of our founder, Dr Hasan Sohaib Murad (shaheed). Staunch and resolute in the face of adversity, we are always full of admiration for their ceaseless support and loyalty to our cause and their inexorable efforts in that regard. Thus, this new year begins with a heartfelt thanks to all our partners, associates, faculty, staff, allies and benefactors. Together, we will renew ourselves, our hopes and our ambitions for a successful year and continue to strive for the universality of quality education.

In Memoriam Of Dr Hasan Sohaib Murad (1959-2018)

The reminiscence of a man of vision and character is an act of benevolence. It serves to inspire. It motivates. It enlightens our lives. Dr Hasan Sohaib Murad (Shaheed) has left a legacy that will continue to inspire future generations. His name is not carved on his lowh-e-mazaar (tombstone), but in the hearts of hundreds and thousands of people who are the beneficiaries of his kindness, guidance, compassion, fairness, humility, piety, intellectual prowess, generosity, scholarship and his unique style of leadership. He was a teacher par excellence. He did not merely impart knowledge but inculcated values because he believed in the power of knowledge as an agent of transformation. He envisioned this transformation in the service of individuals, their society and their country at large. His educational philosophy embodied knowledge not as an end in itself but as a means to higher human ideals. The enduring message of this great teacher of ours is a blessing for us not only for the time we spent at the esteemed institutions that he established and nurtured through his untiring efforts but is a guiding light for the rest of our life. This emanates from his seminal thought that education is not for wages alone, but for the holistic development of the individual, and ultimately for the society. In order that this remembrance does not become an annual ritual that lasts for just a day, his thoughts have been compiled and consolidated in the form of a book at the third commemoration of his demise (September 10). It is published in Urdu and is entitled Ilm, Amal, Zindagi. This book offers an extraordinary insight into his moral and ethical cogitation that might otherwise have remained hidden in the midst of his routine life at the campus. His mentoring through this book would brighten your life with the affective domain of human life. It would restore your confidence in the innate human goodness and it would equip you towards achieving personal and social transformation. By reading this book, you would be fulfilling the vision of Dr Hasan Sohaib Murad (Shaheed) who strived not only to educate you but to transform you into a leader in thought and action.

Director TKS HSM Memorial Visit Speech

Director TKS and ILM Group of Colleges Mariam Nur Murad addressed the audience at an HSM Memorial campus visit. Expressing delight at the tribute the students paid to Dr Hasan Sohaib Murad, she went on to state that certain people carried the ability to leave a mark in others' lives. She urged the students present to emulate those figures and to find a way to similarly change the way people lived, to leave an impact and to behave in a way that allowed them to be remembered for their deeds and actions. She stated that they would have to engender opportunities in their lives as opposed to waiting for them to occur. Remembering Dr Hasan Murad and citing him as an example of someone who excelled in multiple roles, she entreated students to study such successful personalities and to adopt their characteristics to leave a lasting legacy. Asking the audience to think about what they were doing in their lives and what they could do in their lives to leave a memorable mark in the conditions of friends, students, parents, brothers and sisters, she concluded her speech by thanking the students, staff and faculty present for setting aside time to visit the HSM Memorial.

Expressing the belief that this passion was important to develop a better mind, he said that acquiring more knowledge and being equipped with the right skills, the right attitude and the right mindset was important to succeed in life. He asked students to think about others and to act for their betterment. TKS City Campus Undertakes Student Government Initiative

The Knowledge School Network campuses recognise that a myopic focus on obtaining high grades is insufficient to ensure the holistic growth of their students. Whilst important, the acquisition of good grades does not automatically lend itself to the development of dynamic life skills that can hone leadership and communication, foster creative thinking and teach how to work effectively with other people. Recognising this, TKS City Campus, Okara, has undertaken a Student Government initiative to comprehensively hone the proficiency of their students. The TKS City Campus Student Government is divided into three bodies, each of which oversee a particular aspect of a child's development. The Student Council functions to involve students in the affairs of the school and to facilitate them in working in tandem with administrators, parents and teachers for the betterment of all stakeholders in the academic environment. To allow students an opportunity to correlate academic skills with the real-world context, Houses operate to provide students with the chance to learn social skills, critical thinking skills and the importance of teamwork by including them in extracurricular activities through a comprehensive structure. Similarly, Clubs have been set up by the campus to ensure the thorough enhancement of the abilities of their students via the Leaders' Club, the Drama Society and the IT Club. This laudable initiative by TKS City Campus is aimed at promoting friendship, personal growth and providing a creative and productive way for students to take a break from academic studies.
